Selectmen Cancel Plans To Be Civilly Disobedient

By Robert E. Finneran
Managing Editor

The selectmen, courting with the idea of "civil disobedience" in scheduling a joint meeting with the Industrial Development Commission, have changed their minds.

The meeting scheduled for Friday at 8 a.m. at the Sheraton Rolling Green has been cancelled, as the board wrestles with the problem of the new Open Meeting law which went into effect Jan. 1.

Originally, some members of the board had desired to continue their practice of holding "work sessions" with other boards, something they no longer can do under provisions of the open meeting law.

The suggestion was made by ardent opponent of the open meeting provision, Selectman Alan F. French, and was designed as a session where the members of both boards could have a lot of "give and take," and afford the opportunity to comment to each other without fear of public observation.

The Industrial Commission had requested a meeting with the selectmen to question such things as their status, what their goals should be and whether they should be working in the area of commercial development as well as industrial development.

It was following considerable discussion about what the work of the industrial group should encompass, that the thoughts of

Money Items Accepted

A $2,657,000 bond issue to provide improvements to Andover's water system tops the money items which have been submitted for the warrant for the annual town meeting in April.

According to Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, 19 articles, totalling $3,578,740, were presented to him by last Friday's deadline. Two of them were still minus dollar amounts so the figure will go even higher.

The selectmen, however, have reserved the right to make recommendations on the articles later, and the Finance Committee will also be going over them prior to the April session.

While most of the articles carried no surprises and were submitted by various town departments, three came from private sources. As of press time they had yet to be certified as having the required number of signatures to secure them a place on the warrant, however.

The Friends of Shawsheen Village proposed an item for the purchase of the Sacred Heart property, with a price tag to be added before Town Meeting.

They did not state further plans for use of the property, though earlier indications were that they wanted to preserve the building.

Mrs. Harriet Ahouse presented an article for a $25,000 contribution to the Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center, Inc. Andover youngsters who go to the Center's facilities are paid for by the schools.

Sid White inserted a $6,000 item for relocation of a water

An Amicable Discussion On Teacher Representation

Representatives of Andover teachers' two bargaining groups met head on Tuesday night, in a rather friendly "debate" before some 50 of the town's 375 teachers.

The two groups - the Andover Education Association and the Andover Federation of Teachers - will meet again tomorrow at the polls, when the teachers vote on which of the two will be their bargaining agent.

Voting will take place at the Sanborn School from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. All teachers are eligible to vote.

The AFT, which is challenging the AEA for bargaining leadership, was represented

Tuesday night by its president, John McCusker, and by Franklin Martin, executive secretary of the parent group, the Massachusetts Federation of Teachers. The MFT is an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

AEA President Patricia Leahy appeared across the stage, alongside Everett Leahy of the regional office of the MFT counterpart, the Massachusetts Teachers Association.

Both sides praised "personalities" on the other, and both got off some pot-shots at the Andover School Committee, in the hour-and-a-half session.

The committee is their opponent in the contract negotiations that have been going on for more than a year, and which may have stirred the AFT to make its challenge now.

Ms. Leahy led off with thanks to the teachers "for participating in a rough year," and her hopes that their choice in the election would be made "on fact, not rhetoric," and would not interrupt the growth "that has been made in the past year."

Lahey preferred to consider Tuesday night's session a "discussion, not a debate," and said the teachers should base their selection "on what's in your best interest."

He admitted the MTA has made some mistakes, but added that they had hired additional, competent staff. In the past, he said, Andover had been covered by a parttime field representative, whereas now it has a fulltime MTA negotiator. They called the MTA regional office the best in the state.

McCusker praised AEA workers as "unbelievably dedicated," but said their problem had been "poor advice on the part of the MTA," particularly during the "confrontation of the past year."

Martin added that it was the consensus of many people that the AEA hadn't received service from the MTA.

East Junior High Stage Is "Haunted" For Play

"My Favorite Haunts," a comedy by Donald Campbell, will be presented by the East Junior High ninth grade tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The story features the ghost of Celestine Hatcher, an old-fashioned woman who, in her deceased days as well as her living ones, controlled the school and, for the most part, the town in which she lived.

Problems arise when Celestine's great nephew becomes the new principal of the high school and brings his progressive ideas with him.

Chamber Examines Possible Changes

Attorney Andrew F. Shea III, president of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, told his board of directors last week that it was important for them to examine the proposed changes on the zoning bylaws regarding industrial development "very carefully."

Shea said they should be certain that hindrance of healthy industrial growth would not take place.

Possible changes being studied by the planning board include increased restrictions in the I-D industrial zone in West Andover, and rezoning of a portion of the Voke School area from I-A to I-D, increasing restrictions there. That latter area is roughly bounded by River Road, Route 93 and Lawrence.

Shea appointed John J.

Callahan chairman of a committee to gather information from community developers, as well as the guidelines set by the Planning Board. Members of his committee are John O'Boyle, Thomas H. Curtin and Thomas G. Meier.

Bancroft PTO Invites Community

All members of the community are invited to a meeting of the Bancroft PTO on Jan. 21, which will feature a panel discussion on "What Role Do You See The School Assuming In Developing Human Values?"

The program resulted from questions posed by a parent regarding negative attitudes and behavior on the part of some students, what stimulates such conduct, and what parents and school can do about it.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Bancroft School.

Moderated by John Coyle, principal of Bancroft, the panel will include Wilbur Hixon, vice-principal of Andover High School; Iora Alexander, director of guidance at West Elementary; Norma Roberts, director of guidance at East Jr. High; Dr. Larry Larson, child psychologist; William Alexander, president of Andover High School Student Council; and East Jr. High students Ann Moriarty and Joan LaRochelle.

Each panelist will respond to the question from his point of view and as he sees values reflected in student behavior in or out of the school situation. In addition, a sampling of parents' responses to the topic will be presented.

Following the panel presentation, the discussion will be opened to questions and responses from the audience.

Factory Work To Be Comparison Topic

Former Lawrence mill workers will meet at the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum on Monday, Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. to talk about "Working in America: Yesterday and Today."

As the fourth in a series sponsored by the Greater Lawrence American Issues Forum, the Textile Museum program will highlight the advantages and disadvantages of factory work in early twentieth century Lawrence as compared to work in America today.

Issues to be discussed will include occupational identity, health and safety, wages and labor organization. On hand to exchange information and experiences will be various members of the Museum staff and former employees of the textile mills.

Among the former mill operatives invited to share their histories will be Mrs. Yvonne Quintal of Methuen and Mrs. Helen Gurka of Lawrence. Mrs.

Quintal worked as a mender for the Stevens Mill in North Andover and for the Pacific Mills in Lawrence. Mrs. Gurka also worked in Lawrence, beginning at the Washington Mills at age 14 and later at the Wood Mill where she was employed for a total of thirty-five years.

In coordination with the evening program the Museum galleries will be open to Merrimack Valley residents, free of charge, until 10 p.m. Demonstrations of textile machinery will provide a historical setting for a discussion.

Workshop Offered Educators

Merrimack College's Continuing Education Division will sponsor a special one-day workshop on "Management By Objectives" for religious education coordinators on Friday, Jan. 30, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The workshop is designed to provide religious education coordinators with practical management tools for developing, implementing, and supervising religious education programs in their parishes.

Workshop participants will learn the techniques of Management By Objectives, a results-oriented approach that is built upon a system of clearly defined and communicated goals, in order to work more effectively with their pastors, education commissions, and Confraternity of Christian Doctrine volunteers.

They will also learn how Management By Objectives can be specifically used in religious education programs to measure achievement, to motivate volunteer staff, and to retain the involvement and commitment of these volunteers.

Workshop leader will be Dr. T. F. Gautschi, associate professor of management at Bryant College. Besides extensive business and educational experience, he has been involved for more than fifteen years as a director of Christian Education Boards and as an instructor in Christian Education classes for the Baptist Church.

Dr. Gautschi was formerly the director of management and organizational development for Data Processing Operations with Honeywell Information Systems. The Andover School Department's Media Services, in cooperation with the Recreation-Community Schools Department, will present a film called "Albert Einstein: The Education of a Genius" next Wednesday.

This film, originally scheduled for Oct. 15, will be shown on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the West Elementary auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

This 44-minute color film is narrated by Peter Ustinov and is described by the National Science Teachers' Association as "a film that should be seen by students of sciences and by students from the humanities because the film effectively presents the scientific and humanistic aspects of this great man."

Photographed in Switzerland, Germany and the United States, the film emphasizes Einstein's early years and using his own words makes vivid the role of visual thinking as opposed to verbal thought in Einstein's development.

The film was produced, written and directed by Harold Mantell.

Bantams Take On Maine, N.H. Teams

THE TOWNSMAN, JANUARY 15, 1976

By Rick Harrison

Apparently faced with the "iron" of its schedule early, the Andover Bantam A traveling hockey team struggled through a tough three-loss week.

The locals found the Providence, R.I. Bantams impossible to contend with, dropping consecutive 8-4 and 7-3 decisions in their "home-and-home" meetings.

The Manchester, N.H. Bantams then chalked up a 4-1 win over Coach Dick Neal's crew last Sunday at the Phillips Academy Rink.

The setbacks left Andover with an overall record of 1-3-0.

Providence, 8-4

The trip to the Brown University Rink proved anything but enjoyable, as the Rhode Island team built up a 5-1 lead and then coasted home.

Providence led 1-0 after the opening session on a second rebound powerplay goal at the 5:19 mark.

Dave Cullinan replaced Bateson in the locals' net for the final period, a penalty-packed session that saw Providence notch the only score on a 20-foot slapper at 9:34.

Seven of the game's 10 penalties were whistled in this period, six of them against Andover.

Manchester, 4-1

Manchester presented an added problem for Andover. In addition to talent, the New Hampshire crew was a "strong, physical team" according to Coach Neal.

Five penalties were called during a four-minute stretch late in the first period, and on the final infraction Manchester grabbed a 1-0 edge when its powerplay clicked.

The Granite Staters killed off a minor and major penalty early in the second stanza, and just 12 seconds before the major was to expire Manchester made it 2-0 with a shorthanded tally after a blue line, and Joe snapped off a 25-footer that beat the Providence goalie high.

Todd Bateson worked the entire game in net for Andover.

Providence, 7-3

The Rhode Islanders continued to frustrate Andover upon their return visit to Phillips Academy last weekend.

Providence pumped in three goals during the opening seven minutes of action, taking a lead it never relinquished.

"The first was the rebound of a 75-foot shot," recalled Neal. "The puck fell at (Todd) Bateson's feet, but he couldn't find the handle and the defensemen failed to clear it in time."

That came at 4:16, followed at 5:23 with a rebound and at 6:59 by a 15-foot connection.

Andover hit the scoreboard at 10:01 of the first stanza, as veteran left winger Mike Anderson clanged a 15-foot slapshot off the netpost. Paul Farnham and Len Driscoll assisted on Anderson's first red-lighter.

Driscoll brought the locals within striking distance, 3-2, at 1:34 of the middle period by jamming the puck home from in close. The set-ups were by Farnham and Anderson.

Providence rode out a penalty and stopped the Andover powerplay moments later, then grabbed a 4-1 edge at 4:02 on a 60-foot slapshot.

The visitors added a pair of late tallies, countered only by John Sagaser's 10-footer with assists from linemates Bruce Belbin and Steve Morin.

Center Steve Morin brought Andover as close as it would get at 0:59 of the second period, pocketing his second goal of the season. Bruce Belbin initiated the scoring play with a pass from the boards to defenseman Phil Weeks at the point. He fed Morin out front for the red-lighter.

Providence connected on its second and third powerplay goals, another rebound at 3:55 and a 50-foot slapshot at 6:36, and skated off with a 4-1 edge after again finding the range at 7:12.

At 0:22 of the third frame a Providence player parked himself in front of the Andover net, took a pass and poked it home.

Len Driscoll countered with an unassisted lamplighter at 1:24. He stole the puck behind the Providence net, swung around in front and snapped the disc into the far corner.

The home club retaliated with rapid-fire goals 49 seconds apart to up the spread to 7-2.

A mere 45 seconds after this, however, Joe Cahill collected an unassisted marker. The Bantam "rookie" unloaded a 30-foot shot that deflected home off a defenseman's stick ... his first goal.

Providence rebounded 50 seconds later for an 8-3 edge, as a 75-foot drive slipped through the goaltender.

Joe Cammarata, another Andover 13-year-old, closed out the bunched scoring parade 15 seconds later (7:23) with his second seasonal goal.

Linemate Ken Southworth fed Cammarata perfectly across the partial breakaway.

The visitors picked up a minor and misconduct penalty at 7:29, but again the Andover powerplay sputtered and Manchester upped the lead to 3-0 with a 2-on-1 breakaway connection at 8:40.

The difference jumped to 4-0 just over a minute later.

John Sagaser took over the team leadership in goals, and prevented a shutout, when he scored at 4:44 of the finale on a 10-foot forehead shot from the right side.

Bruce Belbin garnered his fifth assist and Steve Morin his third on the marker.

Todd Bateson, who worked the distance, blanked Manchester in the third period.

There were 13 penalties called in the contest, with Manchester hit the hardest. The visitors took six minors, one major and a misconduct.

Schedule

Andover returned to action last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime, when it hosted a powerful Worcester unit at Merrimack College.

This Saturday night at 6 p.m. the locals entertain Brunswick, Maine for a 6 o'clock game at

Junior Teams Begin Regular Season Play

By Rick Harrison

The St. Augustine Bullets and St. Robert's Celtics collected opening night victories, as the Junior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League got down to "serious" business last week at the Bancroft School gym.

Division director Bob French reported that the 8- and 9-year old hoopers conducted clinics and scrimmage games for three weeks in December, prepping for the regular-season lidlifters.

Bullets, 14-0

The St. Augustine Bullets got off to an auspicious start, white-washing the "conglomerate" Braves 14-0.

Single baskets by Jim Wiseman, Dan Beckerman and Pedro Gleason in the first period were all the Bullets actually needed.

However, eagle-eye Wiseman dumped in a second quarter fieldgoal and added two more in the final period to finish with 8 points.

Richard Nerden also contributed a basket in the fourth stanza.

Other standouts for the Bullets included Mark Townsend, Pete Walsh, John Madden and John Nerden.

For the Braves, comprised of youngsters from both Christ Church and St. Robert's, the top players were Chris Wright, Jim Daley, Mike Hogg, Allen Gable, Geoff Dowell and Tom Dolan.

Celtics, 6-3

Eddie Melia was the hero for the St. Robert's Celtics, as his two fourth quarter buckets wiped out a 3-2 deficit and boosted that club to a 6-3 triumph over the St. Augustine Pistons.

The game was knotted 2-2 in the first session after Scott Lemieux of the Celts and Brian Mackey of the Pistons traded two-pointers.

The contest stayed that way until Mr. Mackey swished a free throw in the third quarter, setting the stage for Melia's heroics.

Other Celtics' stalwarts were Rich Burns, Mike Melia, John MacLean, Kevin Byrne and Matt Dispensa.

For the Pistons, good efforts were contributed by Tony Holbrook, Ken and Kevin Flynn, Mike Surette, Dennis Sullivan, John Recesso and Dana Belpedio.

Sunday Hike Set For Doyle Land

11

Congratulating The Winners

Richard Hornidge, Jr. of Andover (right) and his partner, Bruce Mahler, congratulate Keith Jennings and Chum Steele at the conclusion of their exhibition Platform (paddle) tennis match at North Andover recently. Although Hornidge and Mahler led 3-0 in the first set, and 3-2 in the second, Jennings and Steele, the National Champions, won 6-4, 6-3 in an exciting match marked by the long rallies, quickness of movement, and great touch and agility of the players which feature this relatively new racquet sport. Both teams are participating in a National tour with the top qualifiers eligible for a Grand Prix tournament to be held this spring and publically televised.

There'll be a lot of cross country skiing, snowshoeing and just plain hiking going on over at the Doyle Loop Sunday.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m., the Appalachian Mountain Club will sponsor a hike over the woodland now owned by the town.

Cross-country skiing will be led by Barbara Lybrand, and requires cross-country equipment, waxes and previous basic instruction. Stephen Nehlmes will lead the snowshoeing.

Those who do not choose to ski or snowshoe may hike along the trails set up by the Conservation Commission.

Information is available from Jim Christopher, chairman, or Louise Van Everen, sub-chairman.

Home Buyers May Get Tax Credit

Buying and moving into a new home can be a happy experience. And for some taxpayers who purchased a newly constructed home last year, filling out their tax return might turn out to be a happy experience, too.

The IRS offers this reminder: homebuyers who meet certain rules can claim a tax credit on the purchase price of a new house. In addition, if you recently sold your home, you now have up to 18 months to apply any gain to a new residence.

Instructions for completing the Form 5405 contain the tests for claiming the housing credit.

Thank You . . .

As we have advertised over the past few weeks, Lorraine Roy's is forced to vacate the Main Street store we have occupied for the past eight years. We take this opportunity to thank all our patrons over the years who have made our business in Andover so successful and pleasurable.

We hope to reopen at another Andover location in the near future.

Sincerely,

Lorraine Roy

Jaycee Bowlathon To Benefit Camp

The Andover Jaycees have scheduled a Bowlathon for local youths during their semester vacation, to benefit a summer camp for retarded youngsters.

According to Chairman George B. Vania, 17 Arthur Road, the Bowlathon will offer free bowling to all Andover youngsters who participate, beginning at 8:30 a.m. on Feb. 16 to 20, at the Andover Lanes.

Each bowler, according to Vania, must enlist sponsors ahead of time, the same as in the more familiar walkathons. Sponsors will pledge a half cent or more per pin, instead of per mile. All bowlers who have obtained a minimum of two sponsors per frame may bowl free. Their total pins will be added up and the money collected from the sponsors accordingly.

A $25 prize will be awarded to the bowler who turns in the highest total dollar donation. Additional prizes of portable radios will be given bowlers who collect more than $50 donations.

Sponsor forms may be picked up at the Andover Lanes.

The Bowlathon is part of an annual, state-wide Jaycee "Help Light The Way" campaign.

Proceeds will go to the Lincoln Hill Camp in Foxboro for retarded youngsters. It is the first round - the - clock summer camp for special children in the state and provides a combination of recreational and academic experience designed to develop social and play skills, motor coordination and the like. It is sponsored for Chapter 766 use.

Each child's schedule is determined from an assessment of his or her individual needs, so no two campers have the same schedule. Classes are small, with considerable individual attention.

In addition to maintaining the present facilities, including cabins, bathrooms, infirmary, arts and crafts building and pool, special needs for this year include outdoor lighting, review of plumbing system, and a maintenance pickup truck.

The Jaycee's total goal for 1976 is to raise $50,000 for Lincoln Hill.

Vania says that slide presentations have been given to several local youth groups, telling them about the camp and the Bowlathon. He says the presentation will be made available to other groups by contacting him at home.

The "Water" exhibit at the Children's Museum Visitors Center, an old favorite, lets you discover the power of water with an assortment of gadgets: a water shooting gallery, a water drop strobe, water tables, pumps, a bubble machine, and more.

Joe Torrisi's clutch hoop in sudden death overtime carried St. Augustine A to a big 24-22 upset victory over St. Augustine B last week, highlighting tripleheader action in the Senior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

The result created a three-way tie for first place in the standings, and assured that no one

Wahoos Place High In Meet

At the recently held annual Granite State Swim Classic at Phillips Exeter Academy, the Lawrence Y Wahoos continued their fine New England showing.

Colleen Dowd had an outstanding day placing second in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 26.5 and eighth in the 100-yard freestyle with a 57.7 and swimming anchor leg of the 200 free relay which placed third. Colleen again teamed up with Bobbie Wright, Carol Belbin and Brenda Nightingale to come in sixth in a highly competitive medley relay race. Brenda also had a good clocking in the 50-yard freestyle with a 26.9.

The 13-14 year old age group was led by Nancy Pearson, who finished in the top 10 in the 200-yard individual medley, 50-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly, and then swam with teammates Kathy Flynn, Linda Fitzgerald, and Andrea Paradis to finish ninth in the medley relay. The combination of Pearson, Fitzgerald, Flynn and Eileen Hanawalt swam to a tenth place finish in the free relay.

In the younger age group, Tracy Dowd represented her 10 and under teammates by capturing the fourth place in the 50-yard butterfly and tenth in the 100-yard individual medley.

Teams representing all New England states plus New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania participated in the two-day meet which saw more than 500 A.A.U. swimmers vying for top honors.

The Wahoos' next league home meet is on Saturday at the Lawrence YWCA at 2 p.m. On Sunday they will travel to Rhode Island for an A.A.U. meet.

would have a perfect season. St. Augustine B had been the last of the undefeated teams in the division.

Other ACBL play at the West Junior High saw St. Robert's (3-1) hang on for a 23-21 win over determined Ballardvale United, while Free Church (3-1) grabbed its share of the top by dumping South, 21-12.

Torrisi Connects

St. Augustine B inched to a 2-1 lead after one quarter, as a bucket by Dan Caselden was offset only by Dan Russo's solo free throw.

St. Augustine A battled back for a 7-6 halftime edge. Rich Gusmini tossed through two baskets and Bob Beaudine one for the winners, countered by a pair of hoops from John Walsh.

St. Augustine B tied it 11-11 at the close of the third period, thanks to floor shots by John Perlowski and John Walsh along with a free throw from Tom Walsh. Bob Beaudine answered with a fieldgoal for St. Augustine A, while Jim Hayes and Terry Schwing hit charity tosses.

Both clubs notched nine points in the fourth frame to keep the game knotted 20-20 at the close of regulation time. Dan Caselden caged 4 points, Perlowski 3 and John Walsh 2 for the B-quintet. Torrisi, Hayes and Bob Oelwang canned 2-pointers for the A-squad, while Schwing delivered two foul shots and Beaudine one.

An overtime session failed to resolve the issue, as Dan Russo arched through two free throws for the A-team and John Perlowski had a basket for the B-unit.

That forced the sudden-death overtime . . . where the first team to score a point wins . . . and Joe Torrisi came through with the bucket.

Seven players figured in the well-balanced victors' offense. Bob Beaudine scored 5 points, Torrisi and Rich Gusmini 4 apiece, Dan Russo, Jim Hayes and Terry Schwing 3 each, and Bob Oelwang 2 points.

For St. Augustine B (3-1), John Walsh grabbed game-high honors with 8 markers, John Perlowski canned 7, Dan Caselden 6 and Tom Walsh 1.

Frank Robinson and Scott Boucher were other B-team standouts.

St. Robert's, 23-21

This contest was almost as exciting, with St. Robert's excellence at the foul line paying off for the victory.

The winners made only six fieldgoals while Ballardvale United connected on 10.

However, St. Robert's was 11-for-23 from the charity stripe and BU was only 1-for-8 at the line.

St. Robert's appeared enroute to an easy victory, pulling out to an 8-2 advantage after one quarter (John McNamara had 5 points) and increasing that to 13-6 by intermission.

It was still a comfortable 18-12 edge entering the fourth period, but Jay McLeod, Bill Kettinger and Carolyn Darling led a late BU charge that almost pulled it out.

St. Robert's held the lead, however, when Brian Rockwell swished 2-of-4 free throws and McNamara hit 1-of-2.

John McNamara, a Senior Division "rookie" and former two-time Intermediate Division scoring king, paced all marksmen with 11 points.

Scott Praetz and Rich Marciano flipped through 3 apiece, Gregg Praetz stuffed a second stanza basket and Steve Leitch had a brace of free throws.

Tom Daley and Dan Saunders were other defensive experts for the youthful St. Robert's crew.

Ballardvale was sparked by Bill Kettinger's 5 points while Miss Darling, Russ Bird and Jay McLeod pumped in 4 markers apiece.

Kevin Hollenbeck and Dave Livingston dunked solo baskets, and other BU leaders were Betty Darling, Dave Brown and Jeff Roy.

This marked the second consecutive tough defeat for Ballardvale, a one-point loser two weeks ago.

Free Over South, 21-12

Free Church broke open a tight 11-11 game in the second half, following the sharpshooting of Mike Travis and a tenacious defense to its third victory.

When the final buzzer sounded Travis was game-high scorer with 9 points, all but two of them in the last half.

Jeff Buck fired in 5 markers, Mike King 3, Doug Kirkland 2 and Doug Awley 2 points.

Gary Lindstrom and Glen Wade also played well for Free.

South Church was guided by Scott Hughes with 5 points, while John Sagaser tossed in 4 and Steve Rathbun caged 3.

Yankee Ingenuity - Curbside

What Our Readers Say

To the editor of the TOWNSMAN
I must object to what I regard as totally unjustified criticism of the Conservation Commission and its chairman, Virginia Hammond, in an editorial in last week's TOWNSMAN. If there is any blame to be attached to the need for a three week extension to firm up figures for a money article for this year's Town Meeting warrant, then I share it. I am chairman of a Planning Board sub-committee which was given the task of updating the 1970 Open Space and Recreation Report. Mrs. Hammond represents the Conservation Commission on the sub-committee and the Recreation-Community Schools Committee is represented by Douglas Mitchell. We have been faithfully and ably assisted by Sheldon Cohen, Assistant Town Manager, and Gary Ralph, Director, Recreation-Community Schools. This group has been working diligently all during the Fall and it was hoped that the revised report in completed form would be available at this time. In spite of our efforts, however, it is only in the preliminary draft stages now, and one of the matters remaining to be discussed and, it is hoped, agreed upon is that of the level of funding to be requested at the 1976 Town Meeting. The Conservation Commission felt it would like to weigh the recommendations of this group before proceeding with its own request. It is indeed ironic that what should be commended as an effort at cooperation among Town boards is instead subjected to severe criticism.

I also object to the implication in your editorial (and in an earlier one which asked the question Is Andover becoming a land baron?) that we have too much open space and that the Conservation Commission is a charitable cause which many good-hearted but soft-headed people supported when times were good but can't afford to now that the economic crunch is on. The fact is that the Conservation Commission controls 498 acres of land; the Town of Andover has an area of 19,900 acres, of which approximately 7000 are still undeveloped. The nearly 500 acres under Conservation Commission aegis were accumulated by a painstaking combination of purchase, using Town and State funds, gift, largely of green areas created by the operation of the Town's cluster zoning provisions, and transfer of tax title or other lands already owned by the Town to Conservation Commission control. This is a record to be proud of, but in spite of this effort there are still important natural resources of the Town which are unprotected. Chief among these are the remaining Fish Brook wetlands, which contribute substantially to the Town's water supply, and the Town's rivers, streams, and ponds in general, whose protection would not only preserve important natural resources but would provide public access to them for many forms of active and passive recreation. To provide funds for preservation of such natural assets is thus action taken by the public to protect its own interests, not an amiable contribution to a vague cause.

One of the major tasks of the above-mentioned sub-committee was to identify the most significant parcels of remaining open space and attempt to establish priorities among them. Having done all this, I feel very strongly that it would be shirking responsibility if we failed to present our findings to Town Meeting. It is Town Meeting that must make the decision and it should be allowed that opportunity. Certainly it seems inappropriate for the TOWNSMAN, with none of this information at its disposal, to prejudge the case.

Margaret R. Keck
52 Harold Parker Road

To the editor of the TOWNSMAN
Representatives of three official Town bodies, the Planning Board, the Recreation-Community Schools Committee and the Conservation Commission have been meeting since last May, working with Mr. Herr of Philip Herr & Associates, the Planning Board's consultants, to re-evaluate, update and refine the Town's Recreation-Open Space program as set forth in the 1970 Report. The Conservation Commission has been working on this same project almost twice as long. A sustained effort with professional assistance is being made to integrate the recreation land acquisition and development planning for the Town. The report of this committee is still in draft form, with some areas of disagreement still to be resolved. Many, many volunteer manand woman-hours have been spent already on this project, including aerial photography by Theodore Taylor of 12 Sagamore Drive and a new map of all the Town's public and semi-public open space, by Robert Goodwin of Central St., to mention two items that could have cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars but that were donated willingly to the Town by two dedicated citizens.

Well aware that the fiscal situation of the Commonwealth is precarious and the mood of all taxpayers conservative, the above committee is being very careful in what it proposes to ask the Town to spend on such a program of acquisition and development. The fact that several large and expensive parcels of land especially suitable for open space-recreational uses have recently become available has further

God cures the ill but the doctor pays the fee. I hope always to be the friend to you that you have been to me. Thank you for your concern. Be good and you will be happy.

Town House Topics

Collective Bargaining

Collective bargaining will be the Board of Selectmen's topic when they meet in executive session Monday night.

Discussing collective bargaining strategy with them will be Michael Gilman and Allan Drackman of the Boston firm of Holtz & Allan, which represents the Town.

The selectmen are facing negotiations with both the police and firefighters, whose two-year contracts expire June 30.

The firefighters have already had one negotiation session, while the police vote next Tuesday to see if they will join the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, or remain with the Andover Police Betterment Association.

Selectmen Meeting

At 9 on Monday night, the selectmen will open their meeting to policy with the Department of Recreation - Community Schools committee, and to appoint members to a local Growth and Development Policy Committee.

Governor Michael Dukakis has given local communities until the next Thursday to put together such committees.

The state has recommended that they be made up of representatives of local planning, industrial development, health, conservation and housing boards, plus five citizens.

The selectmen hope to modify that structure slightly.

Tax Form Advice

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin has been asked by the state to help make sure that local taxpayers complete their 1975 tax forms properly.

A new block appears on Forms 1040 and 1040A requesting residence information. It will be used by the U.S. Bureau of the Census to prepare 1976 population and 1975 per capita income estimates for general revenue sharing purposes.

Revenue sharing funds come back to the state and communities and, in turn, affect local taxes.

College Board Scores

A history of college board scores is one tentative item on next Tuesday's agenda of the Andover School Committee.

The public meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the second floor of Stowe School.

Flood Plain Map Hearing

The Andover Board of Selectmen agreed Monday night to put the question of flood plain zoning maps to a public hearing at 8:30 p.m. on January 26.

The selectmen must eventually tell the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) whether they prefer to go with a flood plain boundary map that covers all the wet areas and streams in all sections of Andover; one that takes in only the Shawshen and Merrimack River areas; or one that covers the Shawshen and Merrimack Rivers plus all bodies that affect the water supply, including Fish Brook, Haggett's Pond and the Skug River that runs into North Reading.

Copies of the maps may be seen at Town Hall or the Library, where the public meeting will be held.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said this week he thought people should realize that being in a flood plain zone puts some restrictions on an owner's ability to build and remodel.

The School Board And Their Portables Face A Long Haul

The selling of $450,000 for portable - - for rather "relocatable" - - classrooms to the April Town Meeting might prove difficult for the Andover School Committee.

The town just may not buy the idea of buildings which are temporary in nature, for a school population bulge which should pass through in a few short years.

Perhaps we'd rather put up for a little while with the inconvenience of, say, double sessions, to save the nearly half a million dollars and the "eyesoredness" of portables.

Many other communities have found that the buck doesn't stop with the initial investment of portables either. Just as the "temporary" barracks have served the government for three decades after the World War II, portable classrooms often seem to stay forever, as architectural mini-monstrosities and as temptations to vandalism that is difficult and costly enough to curb in their parent buildings.

While the school committee earlier snubbed the idea of Sacred Heart as a temporary solution, the fact remains that there is space available there, and that Sacred Heart still is going to be an issue before town meeting.

It will be the subject of several articles, all probably aimed at retaining the building and land.

The thoughts and ideas of the Friends of Shawsheen Neighborhood Associations, however, may make Sacred Heart even more difficult to sell to the voters than portables. The Friends want to preserve Sacred Heart, but not for commercial or business uses.

For what, then, would they have us spend our money?

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Ford's Stumblebum Image

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — The late Lyndon Johnson's remark about Gerald Ford's inability to walk and chew gum at the same time has stuck to the President — like gum. From coast to coast, President Ford is being ridiculed as a stumblebum who trips over his own feet.

There is the story that Ford was on an escalator that broke down, and he was stuck for two hours. Or this one: "Why did Jerry Ford stop playing water polo? Answer: Because his horse kept drowning." Another is that Ford is the only man in America whose lips move when he reads a stop sign.

Unhappily for the President, he keeps reinforcing his image as a klutz. He trips over airplane steps. He gets tangled in his dogs' leashes. He falls on the ski slopes.

Is this the real Jerry Ford? The answer is no. He is not a stumblebum. He still has the moves of the all-American football player he once was at the University of Michigan.

Neither is the President a dumbbell. He has never calimed to be a great intellect. But no one without brains could make it through the Yale Law School, as Gerald Ford did.

The real Gerald Ford is a good-natured guy who has the capacity to laugh at himself. We have been in the inner sanctums of the White House. On the walls are some of the cartoons poking fun at Ford. The President thought they were funny, too.

Nor is Ford a drunk, which some critics have whispered. He is a locker-room President, who likes to belt a couple with the boys after the action is over.

He doesn't often get ruffled. When Sara Jane Moore took a shot at him in San Francisco last September, for example, the President was rudely shoved into his limousine, and three Secret Service agents plopped down on top of him. They literally were shielding him with their own bodies.

The heavily armored car slowly gained speed and headed for the freeway. The radio and air-conditioner were turned off to reduce the strain on the motor.

Several minutes passed. Finally from the carpeted floor of the car, beneath the three burly agents, came the mild voice of President Ford. "Do you think we could turn on the air-conditioning?" he asked. "It's a little stuffy down here."

Holiday Travels: It can be said that the sun never sets on Congress while it's out of session.

During the Christmas holidays, our elected Representatives were scattered around the world. They squandered money far and wide while they preached government economy at home.

Some congressional trips, with split-second schedules and heavy work loads, are productive. But most of the trips are little more than all-expense-paid vacations in official guise.

Here is a rundown of the holiday junkets:

— The most extravagant trip was a $35,000, 12-Senator excursion to the South Pacific. The Senators, led by South Carolina's Fritz Hollings and Michigan's Robert Griffin, hit Hawaii, Saipan, Guam, Australia, New Zealand and — on the way home — Mexico City.

— Eleven Congresswomen, with their husbands along to carry the baggage, visited mainland China. The delegation was headed by Congresswoman Margaret Heckler, R-Mass.

— Rep. Bill Clay, D-Mo., and Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Calif., made the rounds of European capitals, with stops in London, Rome, Madrid and Athens.

— Congressman Phil Burton, D-Calif., spent the holidays in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

— Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., toured Africa. Senator George McGovern of South Dakota took off for Hanoi. Senator Jacob Javits of New York swung through South America.

Dozens more wandered around the world, poking their congressional noses into faraway places. The idea behind congressional travel is that Congressmen should learn more about the world whose destiny they help to shape.

Their junketing puts a strain on the State Department, which is obliged to cater to their travel needs. As one former embassy official told us: "Almost invariably, Congressmen talk too loudly, drink to heavily, spend too much and stay too long."

Problems in Peking: Behind the poker faces in Peking, China's top leaders reportedly are engaged in an epic power struggle. Intelligence reports claim that a powerful military faction is trying to restore the old ties with Russia.

This could upset the Chinese-American detente and change the whole world power balance, with a dangerous tilt toward the Communist bloc.

The military officers have enough clout in Peking, apparently, that the government sought to appease them by releasing three Soviet airmen as a friendly gesture to Moscow. Their release was so sudden, according to the intelligence reports, that the Soviet ambassador in Peking, Vasily Tostikov, was caught by surprise.

Washington Whirl: Disciples of Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the self-proclaimed Korean holy man, have been actively extolling their leader's virtues on Capitol Hill. They stroll the hallways daily, buttonholing Senators and Congressmen, offering free trips and other inducements to win high-level endorsements of their movement...Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky zipped through a stop sign in Washington recently and was stopped by a District policeman. After pleading with the officer that he was only a poor refugee, Ky got off the hook with a mere warning.

Some 120 parishioners and friends celebrated the beginning of the 150th year of West Parish Church Friday with a banquet and dedication service. Here Mrs. Eleanor Campbell presents a copy of her church history, "West of the Shawsheen", to Robert H. Klie, its editor. Seated before them are guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Muir Whitehill. Dr. Whitehill offered a meditation on the historical background of the church and Donald Nickerson presented a slide story of the life of the church today. Other guests of honor were Dr. Otis Maxfield, senior minister of the church, Mrs. Maxfield, and Mrs. Klie.

The Ipswich River Audubon Club is sponsoring an owl walk on Friday, Jan. 16 at 7 p.m., at the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary on Perkins Row in Topsfield to look for nesting sites and listen for calls. If the weather is good, they may see the owls themselves. There is no charge for this popular walk other than the Sanctuary admission fee for non-members who are not residents of Topsfield. For further information please call the Sanctuary office, Tuesday through Friday.

The free organ concert series at the Busch-Reisinger Museum, Harvard, has resumed. Thursdays at 12 p.m. for half an hour.

'Quest' In Preparation At Church

"Quest" is the name. "Quest" is a play being produced by the Unitarian - Universalist Church in Andover. It means adventure, search, particularly a search which is done by many people together. In this case the search is about Life. What does life mean and why do we have so many questions about life.

Is such a play really religious education? A similar program was done for the past four years at the First Parish in Sudbury. "Quest" deals with the universal religious questions: Who am I? Where did I come from? Am I the captain of my soul? Must I die? Must we live?

Four main groups characterize the play which will be put on by youngsters in the church school. The groups are Questions, Seeds, Growing Pains, as well as

St. Robert's Is Six

The youngsters of St. Robert's Country Day School invited their parents and friends to a sixth birthday party last Friday.

To celebrate this special day, and in the absence of the Rev. William Fitzgerald, pastor and executive director of the school, the Rev. Jon Martin, assistant pastor talked about the story of the "Little Drummer Boy."

Father Martin then sang the song as the children responded with the "rum pa pa pums" on their drums, which they'd made earlier in the school week.

Each child also wore a birthday hat he'd made with a cake and six candles depicted on it.

William Walsh, "honorary grandfather" of the school, Mrs. Gerald Weitz, co-chairman of the Parents' Board, and the four teachers, Mrs. Werner Anderson, Mrs. Paul Convey, Mrs. Martin Dispensa and Mrs. Harold Keegan, director, each lit one of the tall candles on the huge birthday cake, as the 100 children and guests sang "Happy Birthday" to St. Robert's Country Day School.

Movies and a slice of birthday cake concluded the morning's festivities.

Registration for the cooperative nursery school will be held in February for next September's classes. Further information may be obtained from the school registrar, Mrs. James Hallice of Andover.

Orchid, Camellia Shows Set For Boston

The Massachusetts Orchid Society and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society announced today that the two groups will sponsor the Orchid and Camellia Shows at Horticultural Hall, Jan. 30 - Feb. 1.

Featuring many colorful displays of these fragile flowers, the show will be open on Friday, Jan. 30 from noon to 4 p.m.; on Saturday, Jan. 31, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and on Sunday, Feb. 1, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission will be $1.50.

Members of the Massachusetts

Orchid Society will be present throughout the show to answer questions and to explain the many different ways orchids can be grown at home.

As a special feature, there will be demonstrations on how to make orchid corsages and a drawing will be held hourly for a beautiful orchid corsage. For those show visitors who do not win in the drawing, colorful orchid corsages will be for sale.

There will be several educational exhibits - including a beautiful slide show on orchids, a display by the Indoor Light Garden Society, and even rare orchid prints. A wide range of books and equipment, such as flasks, will be for sale.

In addition, free demonstration lectures will cover a wide range of topics - from proper care to starting your own light garden.

The exhibitions include the oldest continuing flower show in the country, the 146th Annual Camellia Show, with unique specimen blossoms, many never seen before by New Englanders.

Boston Chapter 17 of Ikebana International will prepare beautiful Japanese flower arrangements for the shows, and the Home and Garden Guild of Massachusetts will have a special vignette, entitled, "Living With Orchids."

"Many people think that orchids can only be grown in greenhouses, but we plan to show them that orchids can be grown under lights or on a windowsill," said Charles Bachman, president of the Orchid Society.

Freshmen

To Serve In Career Apprenticeship Program

Miss Maureen A. Bateson of 111 Argilla Road, Andover, will spend one month away from her college, Colby - Sawyer College, New London, N.H., serving as a Medical Assistant at The Artemas W. Stearns Pediatric Health Center in Methuen, as part of Colby - Sawyer's innovative 4-1-4 academic calendar. This calendar requires students to study four or more subjects during the traditional fall and spring terms. And provides a special winter or interim term in which they may study one subject in greater depth than is ordinarily possible.

Miss Bateson will assist the doctor in taking temperatures, blood pressures, weighing and bathing new borns in the in and out patient care, new born care and preventative pediatrics. She will also help with the typing and filing in the office.

Maureen A. Bateson is on of 38 students at Colby - Sawyer who elected to study career apprenticeship during the Interim.

About twenty - five students designed their own independent study programs. The majority of students select from more than sixty courses created for the winter term on the Colby - Sawyer campus and some choose foreign study opportunities.

Maureen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bateson, Jr. of Andover.

Colby - Sawyer College, located in New London, N.H. is the oldest independent women's college in the State and one of the few in New England. It remains a growing, independent, residential women's college serving nearly 700 students from over thirty states and several foreign countries. It offers nine associate and eleven bachelor degree programs that may be completed in two, three or four years in such areas as liberal arts, music, theatre, business administration and management, studio art, secretarial sciences, French studies, medical technology, child study, government and public affairs and various science - medical fields.

Citrus Products Abundant

To help keep weekly food bills down, take advantage of seasonal abundance such as the current bumper crop of citrus fruit, suggests the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

This year's grapefruit crop, for example is forecast at 14 percent above last season, and current retail prices are as low as 12 cents apiece. Since one half grapefruit provides the recommended daily vitamin C allowance, the refreshing tangy fruit is also a nutritional bargain.

There are several grapefruit varieties, but the principal one is the Marsh seedless, whose fruit is light yellow. Then there are pink fruited varieties such as Thompson, and the relatively new Star Ruby, which has a redder peel and flesh than other varieties and is grown extensively in Texas where it was developed.

Navel orange production is also predicted slightly above last season, and there is a host of other fresh citrus fruits at reasonable prices to explore and enjoy.

Temple oranges or "Tangors" are actually a cross between tangerines and oranges. Tangelos, a cross between tangerines and grapefruit, are also the size of an orange. Both are an easy peeling fruit with a sweet but tangy flavor.

In tangerines, the small sized bright colored Dancy variety is the best known. Then there is the slightly larger more globular shaped Algerian tangerine, and the Kinnow, also a medium sized fruit with a somewhat flat shape.

The kinnow is actually a hybrid mandarin orange, but tangerines and mandarin-type oranges are sometimes indistinguishable and the words are often used interchangeably.

Learning more about fresh produce can make food shopping a more interesting task and you a better informed consumer. And if you focus on what's in season, plentiful and reasonably priced, as most citrus fruit is at this time, you can also help hold the line on the weekly food budget.

Current best buys in fresh fruit are grapefruit, tangerines, tangelos, oranges, Anjou pears and McIntosh apples.

In fresh vegetables, best buys are carrots, eggplant, green peppers, broccoli, radishes, spinach, romaine lettuce, potatoes, turnips, butternut and blue Hubbard squash.

At meat and poultry counters, best values are ground beef, whole chickens, chicken leg and breast quarters, beef liver, smoked pork shoulder picnics, boneless beef chuck roasts and steaks. In fish, best buys are frozen whiting, smelts, pollock and turbot fillets and canned tuna.

Suggested Dinner Menu: roast chicken with rice and orange stuffing, cranberry sauce, baked potatoes, broccoli, mashed butternut squash, tossed greens salad, fresh grapefruit and tangerine sections with lemon sherbet.

The Strowger telephone central office switching machine, which eliminated the dependency on operators for routing calls, was patented on March 10, 1891, by Almon B. Strowger, a Kansas City undertaker who reportedly believed that operators were interfering with his service and routing calls to his competition.

Teachers

"If you're not happy receiving the best of the MTA," he said, "we are here to provide an alternative."

Martin said the AFT was the "most educated union," and that each negotiator table with a great deal more sophistication, he said, than the "cigar smoking, table stomping, blue collar unions of the 30's."

He said the contract is the union's most important thing, and "I believe we can bring better settlements."

Philosophical Difference

Lahey said their was one basic philosophical difference between the two organizations. The MTA, he said, gives teachers "what they want and what they request," often getting into trouble because "what we perceive is best for a local is not always what the local wants."

He said the MTA provides a "plethora of support services," and has one of the best professional development organizations in the country.

"There is no tone service you could possibly ask that we don't have the ability to provide," he said.

Martin contended that much of the MTA information was "glossy . . . if not sophomoric, than anti-intellectual," and noted a difference between autonomy and leadership.

"Locals have autonomy in our organization too," he said, "but leadership means to lead. It involves a risk . . . even a risk of them telling us they don't want us."

Selectmen

the open meeting law presented itself.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen said the idea of getting together to establish some common goals was a good one. The problem was, however, that, it was difficult to meet on an informal basis in what the board used to term "work sessions," due to the new law.

Selectman French said that he would not participate in such a meeting and emphasized that he did not want the intent misinterpreted as his conforming to or favoring the new law.

French went on to say that the law was unworkable. It was put through the legislature with the support of the League of Women Voters and has not resulted in any uplifting governmental morality as was intended.

He said he would not compromise with the law in any way.

Greenberg suggested that a few members of the selectmen and a few of the industrial commission could meet jointly then report back to their respective boards.

This suggestion was based on counsel rulings that any time a majority of a public board meets, the session must be posted and open.

Janet D. Lake commented that this was, in effect, government by minority, and not a good precedent.

But then French suggested the idea of meeting in a state of "civil disobedience."

He said that in view of the law not providing stiff penalties, being in civil disobedience of the law seemed all right. He said that it had been used effectively at various times in the history of the country and saw no reason why it could not be done now.

As the meeting adjourned, most members of both boards seemed in agreement that the Friday morning meeting at Rolling Green was a good idea. But in the two days that followed, the matter was apparently reviewed and the session cancelled for the time being.

Seniority An Issue

For example, Martin said, as long as five years ago the MFT was telling locals to negotiate for seniority rights to protect against layoffs.

"We had to begin educating them," he said. "The teachers couldn't believe they'd be laid off because no one had ever seen a degreed person in the unemployment line."

"The only way you're going to improve your working conditions and salaries," he told them, "is through collective bargaining."

"It took the arrival of the AFT here to act as a gadfly to get a fulltime negotiating person here," he concluded. "If the association is doing the job, you should stay with them."

"Long before the AFT knew where Andover was," Lahey said, "we had a fulltime negotiator here."

He blamed the Andover School committee for the lengthy negotiations, calling them "one of the toughest school committees I have ever met . . . conservative, tough, pro-education and anti-teacher."

He added that the groups had to be careful not to make seniority synonymous with job security.

"There will be some point," he said, "at which teachers do not want seniority."

"Everyone will acknowledge that seniority is not a perfect instrument," Martin responded, "but it's better than any other and it's imperative that it be in the contract."

Seniority, he said, may well be "the guardian and protector of the quality of a system."

In answer to a question from the floor, Lahey said that the AEA had gone into factfinding four times in the past six years, but disagreed that it was a lot.

"To some locals," he said, "it's a process they go through every year."

McCusker, answering a question about why he "switched," said he was impressed by AFT contracts because they are so specific.

"The AFT locals seem to know what's going on," he added, while he didn't feel teachers in Andover have ever been well informed.

Martin, in the process of telling how he negotiated a recent salary increase in Billerica, said that Andover's school committee was "all over the place" and needs "to be educated about bargaining."

Lahey concluded that "negotiating is the only vehicle to bring your wants and needs before the sovereign."

"In Andover," he said, "the sovereign is not so nice. In Billerica, he's nicer. Sometimes they (school committee) get their backs up as they did this year in Lynn and Burlington (where there were strikes)."

"It all depends on how strong the local is," he said, "and how far you're willing to go to effect a contract."

Martin agreed that a great deal is contingent upon attitudes of the groups involved, but repeated that "leadership is imperative" and "the local has to be informed."

"You can't come in after 11 months of negotiating and say 'we've got problems' and expect to get support," he said.

Evaluation

In answer to a question about how the AFT could help teachers grow professionally, McCusker suggested negotiating an evaluation procedure. He said that the one written by the AEA last year gave the principals too much power.

Ms. Leahy charged that he was "confusing several things." What the AEA did, she said, was come up with an evaluation model. "It had nothing to do with procedure."

McCusker said the school committee has become more vindictive, adding that they are using the principals "to get at us."

Martin called evaluation a weapon that's only used here to "sink teachers" on April 15, while "it ought to be used to help correct teachers' mistakes." He charged that the Andover committee "won't yield. They want to be the sole judges. Their use of evaluation is a travesty . . . and the overall effect on morale is devastating."

Factfinding

Lahey said that the overdue factfinder's report will probably not be favorable or unfavorable to either side. In any case, he said, the committee cannot refuse to negotiate.

When asked if there was a limit as to how long a negotiation could go on, he said he had never yet seen one go to infinity.

"This could be a first," Ms. Leahy added.

Martin concluded that most factfinders base their reports on the ability of the town to pay, and added that "no one will dispute the ability of Andover to pay."

However, he said, there is "a great deal of unwillingness on their part to pay."

"The best bet is to negotiate as high as you can before you get in there," he said, "and use that as a base from which to build."

Works On Exhibit At Museum

The wide range of exhibits at Boston's Museum of Science recently presented students from Chamberlayne Junior College with the opportunity to draw a variety of objects and creatures. The results of their assignment are on view at the Museum, where they may also be purchased.

Ranging from a symmetrically ribbed scallop shell to a massive buffalo head, the drawings and paintings were donated to the Museum by the students in thanks for the experience. Sales of the pictures will go towards the Museum's operating expenses.

The fifty-five pieces are being displayed in Friend Gallery on a revolving basis. Students who participated in the exercise, under the direction of Stephanie Highborg of Boston, their art teacher and Museum volunteer, include Cynthia Niziak of Andover.

Antique Sleighs

"Snow Things", including 19th century sleighs of all shapes and sizes, and an annual antique toy show, are on view at the Museum of Transportation, Larz Anderson Park, Brookline, through January. Tuesday through Sunday, 10 to 5.

The chilling swirl of the legendary pipes of The Black Watch in their traditional kilts and towering headdresses, will be on display at The Boston Garden January 30 and 31 and February 1.

Her Majesty's Royal Marines and The Black Watch will salute America's 200 years of independence with a spectacular gala of music and pageantry entitled "Hands Across the Sea" at The Boston Garden for three performances only Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1.

The Black Watch contingent will enter the Boston Garden to the tune of "Highland Laddie" in the very uniforms worn by their ancestors in 1776, followed by the 1776 version of The Royal Marines drummers and fifes.

House spotlights will pick up the famous flag, fife and drum symbolizing the American Spirit of '76, while the strains of

"Yankee Doodle Dandy" fill the air. Other such favorites will include "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Tipperary," "Scotland the Brave," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Over There," "Edinburgh Castle," "Garry Owen," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Highland Laddie,"

"The Black Bear," "Rule Britannia," "River Kwai March," and many, many more. All the music selections are woven into a lavish theatrical presentation, utilizing the traditional British pomp and pageantry.

What Our Readers Say

complicated the planning and forced further review and shifting of priorities.

On Saturday, Jan. 8, two members of the Conservation Commission attended an emergency meeting of the newly formed, ad hoc Massachusetts Environmental Coalition, which on that date held meetings in every county throughout the Commonwealth with the concurrence and support of Environmental Affairs Secretary Evelyn Murphy. This coalition of all environmentally concerned groups, from Conservation Commissions to the Appalachian Mountain Club to the Sierra Club to the Audubon Society will attempt to explain and publicize the meaning of the recent budget cuts sustained by the Office of Environmental Affairs, the most severe slashing endured by any department of the Commonwealth. This department will be forced to curtail many of its programs, particularly the all-important regulatory functions for lack of adequate personnel. Currently it is managing to function haltingly by means of volunteer help and 70-hour work weeks.

Massachusetts has long been a leader in environmental legislation, protection and management. To see the painfully and slowly built organization to which we owe so much (we have enjoyed state support in all our efforts, and our Self-Help projects alone number 19) "go down the tubes" is distressing, but more than that, alarming. It is your air and water we're trying to protect. It is your open space we are trying to save from the rape of the bulldozers. Those are your wetlands that feed your water supply, give habitat to your plants and animals, provide your recreational opportunities.

We are conservative in what we believe is the best sense of the word. We are trying our best under increasingly difficult circumstances to preserve the amenities that mean so much to the "old Andoverites" and to the increasing flood of newcomers attracted by the combination of mellow charm, forward-looking administration, fiscal soundness and plenty of usable open space, a lot of which you are using only temporarily and maybe illegally because it is still privately owned.

We will come forward with our recommendations to the Selectmen within two weeks of

Merchants Plan Sweepstakes

Andover's Center Merchants will be providing shoppers with a double bonus next weekend, Jan. 22-24, when they conduct their Sweepstakes promotional event.

Shoppers will be able to obtain merchandise at bargain prices, but in addition will be provided with the opportunity of participating in a sweepstakes drawing for prizes to be awarded by participating stores.

All that is needed to be eligible for the special awards is to visit the downtown participating stores and register. The prizes will be drawn on Saturday at 4:30 p.m. under the arch at Olde Andover Village.

In addition to the prizes being awarded by the individual participating stores, there will be one grand prize awarded, providing the lucky winner with a $250 shopping spree in stores which are members of the Center Merchants Association.

As for the sales, the individual merchants will be placing special items at bargain prices for shopper selection, some providing different items for each of the three days.

Economics of Solid Waste On Selectmen's Agenda

Andover Selectmen are inviting representatives from the state Bureau of Solid Waste, MITRE Corporation and Universal Oil Products, to their February 9 meeting to discuss a proposed $93 million regional solid waste plant.

main in the Argilla Road area in front of his house.

Major items for the warrant include $450,000 requested by the school committee for portable classrooms to ease the population explosion in the secondary schools, and $200,000 to bear the cost of reevaluation.

Other items include $100,000 for storm drains; $1,909 and $25,000 for MBTA service; $12,000 for the Recreation Park roadway; $17,900 for the Parkhurst Development roads; $9,000 for Lakeside Circle; $5,000 for Greenwood Road; $4,000 for bikeways, as proposed by the new Bicycle Committee; an item on municipal audit; $40,000 for renovations to the Theater Building; $20,000 for a transit study; a $931 Duffy reimbursement and $5,000 for unpaid bills.

The Theater Building and property were purchased after a vote of last October's town meeting. A study is now underway to see if it would be financially feasible to operate the building, leasing a portion of the lower level to the state and using the second level for The Haven and other town agencies that are now renting space elsewhere.

Austin said the town is awaiting a reply from the state on that matter.

No town audit has been done since January of 1972, Austin said. The state formerly did the audits and then added their cost to the town's "cherry sheet." However, Austin says a shortage of help at the state level forced them to get behind on the audits, and the town is now taking over a duty it was paying for anyway.

According to Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, the Selectmen are primarily interested in the economics of the 3,000-ton-a-day plant proposed for a site in Haverhill: how big it would be and how much it would cost.

The MITRE Corp. is the state's consultant on the project, and Universal Oil is the firm selected to design, construct and operate the facility.

As proposed, it would handle the refuse of some 50 communities, at $8.90 per ton, sell power to the Massachusetts Electric Co., providing nearly $1 million in annual revenues to the town in which the plant was located.

The state says that some of the communities are now paying as much as $14 per ton to dispose of their refuse, and estimates that Andover would contribute as many as 93 tons of solid waste a day to the facility by 1980.

Selectman Edmund J. Sullivan, Andover's representative to the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee which has been working on this project for the past five years, voted in favor of the Haverhill site some time ago.

Other communities that have expressed an interest include Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover, Groveland and Salisbury.

Haverhill originally voted for the proposal, but the new city council subsequently changed its mind. The state is giving them one more chance and will make a formal presentation to them within the next two weeks.

If contracts are signed before mid-year, the state says that the facility could begin accepting solid waste for processing by mid-1979.

The Nichols House Museum, whose design is attributed to Charles Bulfinch, is open at 55 Mount Vernon St., Beacon Hill, Wednesday and Saturday, 1 to 5.
